Caryl Briscoe-Michas

Caryl Briscoe Michas is an actor, writer, and photographer. She began writing in her teen years, mostly in journals, and has continued doing so for years too numerous to count. Born in Great Falls, Montana, and raised in Spokane, Washington, she moved to California and graduated from the Pasadena Playhouse College of Theater Arts. Afterward, she did some summer stock and worked for a time as a dancer in Las Vegas showrooms. She married and raised her two sons in California, involving them in local productions with her. Caryl was also involved in the Mrs. America pageant, first as a contestant and then as an advisor for three years. Caryl eventually moved back to Spokane to her childhood home her father built. She attended college again, this time at Eastern Washington University, and earned a degree in TV Production and Performance, with a minor in Communications. She considers life to be a great adventure. Writing is her most passionate endeavor at present, and her favorite saying is, "Enjoy life and seize the moments. This is not a dress rehearsal."

Now a member of Spokane Authors, Caryl contributed to Celebrating Spokane Authors, Christmas Tales from Spokane Authors, and Spokane Authors Write On, anthologies published by the organization.
