

Jed's World

By Larry Danek

Reviewed by Esther J. Hildahl

Aliens are trying to populate a particular planet. They've tried different species, but failed. Now they decide to transfer an older specimen from the planet Earth. Thus, enter the main character, George Martin, later to be known as Jed.

Read and see how he struggles to survive as he makes his way through new adventures on this strange, but familiar, planet with the help of a fox named Fred and a short-tailed bobcat named Bob. Later he discovers there are other inhabitants here when after a disastrous flood, he pulls a young woman and a little girl out of the water. He calls them Mary and Ann.

Every so often, the reader is privy to the Aliens' thoughts and comments as they watch their subject progress from one stage of survival to another. Danek has written a very creative story with interesting characters. It's well-worth the read. I recommend this book for one and all and especially for those who like to read science fiction.
