Who knew that a small Texas town was in need of a miracle?

If you pulled back the curtains in Libby's popular donut café in Suttonville, Texas, you would see a picture-perfect little town all dressed up for Christmas. You would be charmed.

You wouldn't know about the corrupt businessman who wants to become the town mayor, a diligent reporter who wants to repair his failing marriage, a young girl who is musically talented but dismissed by her overbearing father, and a lovely older woman with a hidden past.

You wouldn't notice a town full of hard-working people without much hope for a better life. You couldn't know how many of them were hoping for a miracle.

That miracle arrives in the form of a mysterious elderly gentleman with twinkling blue eyes behind thick glasses who literally crashes into the town when he first arrives, setting off a hilarious chain reaction. Eventually, everyone in town is touched in some way by the events that follow.

If you have ever wondered if it's true that one person can make a difference, then you owe it to yourself to read this book. By using the power of wisdom, together with a keen interest in listening to what other people have to say, and the gift of love, the mysterious elderly gentleman transforms the entire town.

Based on a real person and true events, this book will captivate you. You will find yourself cheering for the town residents as they discover a new way too think about life.

Do yourself a favor and grab this wonderful, heartwarming, funny, and insightful book!
