OUR SEPTEMBER 2026 MEETINGS

Compiled by Sue Eller and Dave McChesney

Spokane Authors met on Friday September 11, at 2:00 pm., in the Sans Souci West Clubhouse. We had a considerable number of members and guests present to hear guest speaker Frank Scalise talk about revisiting and rewriting one's first story.

It seems no one got a got set of notes to transcribe into this portion of the newsletter. If you want more detail on what Frank talked about, you'll have to watch the video on You Tube.

As always, we ended the meeting by drawing for door prizes.

Spokane Authors also met on Wednesday September 16, at 6 :00 pm, again in the Sans Souci West Clubhouse. It was rather informal, since our guest speaker was ill and couldn't make it. The meeting was called to order by Sue Eller, Vice President, and the other attendees included Stephen Lalonde, Genny LaMorgan, Terry Stratton, D. J. Guy, Denise Guy, Caryl Briscoe-Michas, and guest Ron Goad.

A "proof" copy of our anthology, Spokane Authors Write On, was passed around for people to see. Gray Dog Press, now known as Minuteman Press will do the printing, and promised it would be ready for pickup by October 2.

Stephen Lalonde talked briefly about his latest book. Ron Goad said he had finally finished his manuscript and would let us know when it goes live on Amazon. He and his wife will be doing their usual 6-month stint in Arizona, so he won't be back until next spring. (Hopefully Ron will decide to join our group in the future.)

The group talked about general topics for a little while, and the meeting broke up shortly after 7:30.
