

*Do you need a dynamic speaker
for your club,
writers' group, or professional meeting?*

The SASP Speakers Group offers your organization an opportunity to talk with seasoned writers with a range of skills to share.

We can tailor a topic that is just right for your writers' group, book club, classroom, conference, senior center, or other venue.

Some suggested topics are...

- The writing process
- Characterization
- Marketing & branding
- Domestic violence & bullying
- It's never too late to write that novel!
- How to have fun after fifty
- Science and science fiction
- Naval history
- Age of sail
- Education (with focus on middle school)
- Nuclear anthropology
- Artifacts of mining history
- Writing in retirement
- Alzheimer's disease & dementia
- Technology & everyday life

Look inside for details...

About SASP

www.spokaneauthors.org

Spokane Authors and Self-Publishers is a group of authors of all ages and levels of accomplishment, from those published by New York houses to writers just starting out.

The organization is a place to network, learn about publishing and promotion, and meet colleagues who understand the writing life.

SASP meets the first Thursday of every month at the Golden Corral, 7117 N. Division in Spokane. The room opens at 2:00 p.m. and speaker or other program begins at 2:30.

The SASP Speakers Group is comprised of SASP members in good standing who have committed to outside speaking engagements.

To learn more about SASP and the Speakers Group, visit the website listed above, or come to a meeting and get acquainted with the members.

SASP

Speakers

Group

Dave Mc Chesney speaks about building strong characters at the Spokane Authors and Self-Publishers monthly meeting.

To get started...

If you would like a speaker to come to your organization or classroom, you may contact the speaker directly. Contact information is listed on the inside of this brochure.

Speakers and their preferred topics are listed on the SASP website at spokaneauthors.org. You will also find short biographies of the speakers and a list of their favorite topics. Even more information is available on the speakers' own websites.

Fees for most speakers are negotiable. Normally, no fees are charged if a book signing follows the presentation or workshop.

Dave McChesney
daveeva@comcast.net
(509) 325-2072
www.stoneislandseastories.com

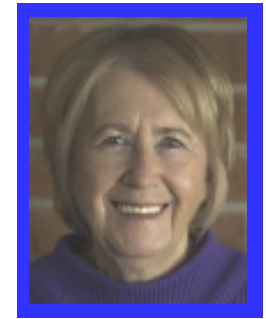

Joyce Caudel
thecaudels@centurytel.net
(509) 235-4352
www.joycecaudelmysteries.com

Bob Weldin
minersquest@comcast.net
(509) 327-2897

Our Speakers

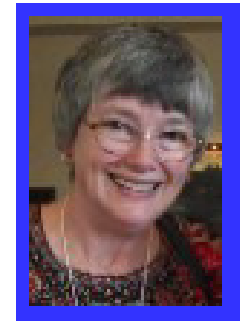

Visit
www.spokaneauthors.org
for short biographies and proposed speaker topics

Sue Eller
author@emilytracemysteries.com
(509) 499-2012
www.emilytracemysteries.com

Jim Parry
parry9922@q.com
509-325-9922

Beth Camp
bluebethly@yahoo.com
(509) 863-5536
bethandwriting.blogspot.com

T. A. Bratcher
author@tabratcher.com
(509) 850-4600
www.tabratcher.com